Man who sexually abused two Long Eaton teenage boys and four others has been jailed for 15 years

By Derby Telegraph | Posted: January 19, 2014

A MAN who groomed six teenage boys online before abusing them has been jailed for 15 years.

Two of Nicholas Geddes's victims were from Long Eaton while the other four boys were aged 14 or 15 and from Durham, Newcastle, Montrose and Gwent.

The case against Geddes, 24, began on June 10 last year when the parents of a 13-year-old Long Eaton boy called police to report that their son had been groomed online, taken to a hotel in the East Midlands and abused by Geddes.

Officers discovered that Geddes had been in contact with the boy via social media.

Two counts of sexual activity with a child, rape, sexual grooming and trafficking within the UK for sexual exploitation
